Changes in Village government seen

When the new Mayor takes office on Monday, May 7th, some new changes will be seen. Shirley Gutowski, who was the Citizen's Party candidate for Village Clerk, will have been the acting Village Treasurer for one week. Village Attorneys Ken Clark and Ed Jacobs, will not be seen at the meeting and will have been replaced by the firm of Rhode and Lynch. There may be more changes seen that night, but they are not known at this time.

April 30th was Mrs. Marie Delaney's last day as Village Treasurer, a post she has held for the last four years. She has enjoyed her job and has been saddened by the change. Mr. Wilton and Mike Haley, one of the new trustees, paid Mrs. Delaney a quick visit last Friday afternoon to inform her of her dismissal.

Mrs. Delaney's job was to handle all of the funds. She is the one full time employee in the clerk's office and she must handle whatever falls her way.

Mrs. Delaney's past has helped her with her job. She served for 28 years with the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, working in every phase, from a teller to the accounting department.

Village Clerk, Marilyn Sterbenz, said that it was Mrs. Delaney's past experience with handling accounts that made her so very valuable, as she must deal with 1,200 Village water accounts.

Sterbenz further stated, "It was my recommendation to retain Mrs. Delaney as Treasurer or at least in the office. With a new Mayor, new trustees and possibly other new appointments, anyone who has such experience is welcomed and needed. But I do realize that political commitments can sometimes be such that changes are necessary and I'll just have to work it out."

Mrs. Delaney also commented that she will look for a new job, she said, "I have worked too many years of my life to quit now."

Shirley Gutowski said she is very elated with her new job. She said, "It is quite a challenge and I am anxious to serve the people of Antioch."

The day after the election the newly elected Mayor asked Shirley to start thinking about the job as Treasurer, to make sure she thought that it would be right for her.

When asked about her qualifications, Mrs. Gutowski said, "It is really something that you have to get into and learn about. I do know about accounting and I did work for the Benes Construction Company for two years. I have also worked for the Village before so I do know about its workings."

Presently, Mrs. Gutowski has been working part-time at Wilton Electric Co and has worked on the books as well as waited on customers. She does not plan to hold this job once she begins her work as Village Treasurer.

Attorneys Rhode and Lynch are also happy about their new appointment. Mr. Lynch said, "We are very happy about the new appointment, we are anxious to work with the new Mayor and the Board and to add our contribution to the Village."

Mr. Rhode, who is originally from the Gages Lake, Gurnee area, has been practicing law in Antioch for the past 6 years. Mr. Lynch whose family is originally from Antioch, has been practicing law here for the past three years.

Both men are planning to work actively with the Board. Mr. Rhode has been representing the Lake County Forest Preserve District for the past five years and has gotten a taste of municipal government experience.

Mr. Lynch said, "We have both worked together on that and that is just about the gist of our experience in municipal government."

Ed Jacobs was the village attorney for the past 27-28

Warning to the public

A WARNING: Beware of inquiring phone calls. It has been brought to our attention that some Antioch residents have been receiving calls from people claiming to be taking a survey.

A check with Chief Wells gives us some important rules to follow:

1. Make them identify themselves and give their phone number.

2. Hang up - Think about it a minute if you are still interested in answering - you have their phone number and can call them back.

This isn't intended to "knock" telephone surveys if they are legitimate! If they are honest, cooperation is foremost in their mind and they will be most happy to oblige with your request.

CHANGES SEEN IN VILLAGE GOVERNMENT

years. He has served under four Mayors and commented this week that it had been a pleasant job, at least most of the time. He said the difficult part about the job is that you have seven bosses; the Mayor and the Trustees all tell you what to do.

When Jacobs began his job he did not have any experience in municipal government, but over the years he has acquired more than he probably would ever need.

When asked if he was surprised with the new appointment, Jacobs said, "A little bit. I thought they would pick someone who had experience. At this critical time you really need to have a man with experience, especially with all the questions of zoning that are facing the Village not to mention the large scale developments that need to be scrutinized very closely. The sewer and water situation is also an important one. It is a difficult job to make way for new residents without jeopardizing the rights of the present residents. And all of these things must be considered!"

When asked how he felt about the appointment, Jacobs said, "I wasn't going to accept it even if it was offered. I am trying to retire."

Mr. Jacobs, partner Ken Clark, has been handling most of the Village's matters recently.

The New Mayor, Robert Wilton, said that he felt these were two areas in the overall Village Staff that needed a change. He also commented that any further changes are not scheduled at this time. The two new appointees will need the Village Board's approval at the next Village Board meeting on May 7th.

When asked if the fact that Attorneys Rhode and Lynch have had little experience in municipal government was considered when they were chosen, Wilton responded,

"Yes, that was something that was discussed. However, we thought it would be good to have attorneys that are located in the immediate area. If we found an attorney out of town it would be difficult to maintain close contact. It is also very difficult to find an attorney who has had a lot of experience in Municipal government. Municipal attorneys are usually employed with the municipality they are representing and these attorneys are not that readily available.

This is something that can be learned. Ed Jacobs and Ken Clark did not have experience prior to their dealings with the Village. Rhode and Lynch do know their law and if they have a question they will ask another attorney, which is a common practice among lawyers. I feel this is a real good appointment. These men are young and energetic and this is exactly what the Village needs."

ACTION NEEDED

If we are really serious about the business of Keeping Antioch Beautiful, what we need are more problem-solvers - and fewer finger-pointers. It's easy to recommend the use of someone else's incinerator, sewage plant or compost heap - just as long as we sweep the real ecology problem under the rug.

Volunteer newspaper collection, glass depots and reclamation centers all contribute, but really don't solve anything. They simply ease the problem.

We must get back to basics. If we are to Keep Antioch Beautiful, we have got to start at the beginning - in our own backyards!

The only way to get rid of the community eyesores is through concerted action and follow-through, with down-to-earth solutions for the handling of garbage, refuse, etc., on a sound and permanent basis.

We may have to go beyond our own community limits and combine our efforts on a county or even a state-wide basis. If we recognize that waste will always be a part of living, and that any solutions which are not permanent merely boost the final ante, then we will be well on our way to Keeping Antioch Beautiful.

The Alaska pipeline controversy is of special interest to citizens of mid-America where the pinch of oil shortages is being experienced to a greater extent than elsewhere in the nation.

The ever-increasing demands for gasoline and diesel oil for motor vehicles, coupled with the need for fuel oil, make the potential of increased petroleum products from Alaska of critical importance.

When discovered in 1967, this new source of oil was hailed throughout the nation as a boon to the Alaskan economy as well as to American industry - in general.

The original plan contemplates a 789 mile pipeline from the North Alaskan slope to a Southern Alaskan port where the oil would be trans-shipped by tankers to West Coast ports for refining and distribution throughout the nation.

An alternative plan would bring oil through a pipe line across Canada to the Mid-West for possible refining at the refineries in Gary and nearby communities on the Southern shores of Lake Michigan.

Leading the fight for a trans-Canada pipeline to bring Alaskan oil to the Mid-West is Congressman John Anderson. As the Rockford, Illinois, congressman points out, the Mid-West is in the most critical need of additional petroleum products - and the trans-Canada pipeline could supply the Mid-West directly without the more complicated and expensive system of a pipeline to Southern Alaska, where the oil would be loaded on tankers to the West Coast and eventual trans-shipment of part of the supply to the Mid-West.

It is argued that the pipeline would permit the first oil shipments to be received by 1977. The alternative Canadian pipeline would require additional delays - probably postponing the first oil shipments to 1980 - or later.

Most of the delays in developing the Alaskan oil supplies have been occasioned by environmentalists, including the Sierra Club and the Friends of the Earth. Recently, the United States Supreme Court confirmed a decision holding that under existing law, no pipeline could be constructed across Alaska, having a right of way greater than 54 feet in width. Since it is considered essential to have a minimum right of way of 100 feet for earth-moving and other construction equipment, this court decision effectively blocks for the time being any pipeline development.

This means that the Alaskan pipeline controversy is now dumped in the laps of the Members of Congress to amend the law to permit rights of way for such purposes of 100 feet or more - across Federal lands. In the meanwhile, citizens of Alaska are anxious to develop this great resource, in order to enhance the Alaskan economy. Government economists are anxious to increase this American source of petroleum products, estimated at 25 percent of our American oil supply, in order to protect both the American oil industry and the American consumer against the unwarranted price increases which foreign producers might otherwise impose.

Finally, improvement of the American economy itself is dependent upon exploiting this domestic source of petroleum and petroleum products. By developing this domestic supply, the price of gasoline and other petroleum products can be kept in line. Our national economy can be stabilized - and the fight against inflation can be reinforced.

TILLAGE SAVES FUEL

In face of an anticipated shortage of power fuel on farms this year, Lee Bridgman, District conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, reminded Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District farmers that conservation tillage saves fuel as well as soil. Long recognized for its value as a soil saving practice, conservation tillage involves fewer trips over the field and a substantial savings in fuel.

There are many variations of conservation tillage systems. However, all systems involve managing the soil for row crop production whether it be under a continuous or rotation system. Some of these conservation tillage systems being used successfully today include zero tillage, chisel planting, till planting, strip tillage, plow plant, and wheel-track planting.

Today, in view of a possible fuel shortage added to increasing concern over soil erosion and increasing pressures on our land, conservation tillage is an alternative that merits careful consideration. The advantages of conservation tillage include savings on fuel and labor, less deterioration of soil structure, less soil compaction, and reduced soil erosion. It's easy to see why conservation tillage continues to look better and better.

Contact Lee Bridgman, District Conservationist assisting the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation District for more complete information on conservation tillage. He can provide technical assistance along with names of farmers in the area who are successfully practicing conservation tillage. Bridgman said that you might then want to talk to them and get additional information which they could share with you.

THE HOUSE THAT GEORGE MOVED . . .

There are many house builders in Lake County, but there is only one house mover. That one person is George Palaske, who lives on Hillside Ave., in Antioch. He has been moving houses for the past 32 years. He began his work under the wing of his dad, Ted Palaske, who owned a house moving business for at least 30 years. When Ted retired his son George bought out the business and has been on his own for the last 27 years. This house moving business has always been located in Antioch and presently George Palaske is the only certified, bonded house mover in the County.

For the past year George has been working on a large project with the State of Illinois Conservation Department. The State has purchased 300 homes in Zion for the Park expansion. Of these 300 homes 170-200 of them will have to be moved. So far George and his crew have moved about 42 of these houses. It hasn't been an easy job as things have been complicated by the critical erosion problem that has been created as the exceedingly large waves from Lake Michigan have been rolling up to the quickly vanishing shore line.

The houses along the shore were given priority of course, but just the same, two of the houses managed to end up in Lake Michigan before they were able to be moved. With waves beating at their backs Palaske and his crew of five men were able to retrieve both of the houses. George commented that one of the homes was badly twisted and cracked but "houses are pliable" he said, and we soon had it back in shape.

On the average it takes about three days to move a house. While moving one home in Zion, George said they witnessed 30' of their working space disappear. When they began the project in the morning they had thirty feet of space between the lake and the house. During the day this space was reduced to 20' and by the next morning the house was teetering on the edge.

George will be working on the Zion project until the 1976 deadline rolls around. He is not actually moving these houses for the State, rather he is moving them for the individual owners. The State originally bought all of the homes and then auctioned them back to the general public. It is Palaske's contention that purchasing such a home in most cases is definitely worthwhile, as you can save from $5,000 to $12,000.

For example, a $30,000 home may sell for $1,000 - $1,200 depending on the number of bidders. The majority of homes however, were sold at the minimum bid of $1,000. It will then cost the new home owner between $3,200 to $5,000 to have the house moved. They have to have the house moved at least a mile and in most cases they are moved 9 or 10 miles. George has in the past moved a house as far as 42 miles.

What kind of condition are these houses in after they are moved? "Excellent condition, without any damage," George said. "We move these houses with all their contents in them. We go through the inside and tape all of the kitchen cupboards shut, and take down anything that looks top heavy. Arrangements are made to have phones, gas and electricity disconnected and the house is on its way. It is then raised up with the help of a unified Hydraulic system. This takes from three to four hours."

In George's early days of house moving this process was not so easy. Houses were raised with hand screws and it was 2 days before the job could be completed.

Before the house is actually moved arrangements must be made with the State and local police and with the Utility Companies since wires must be raised and lowered as the house is moved. The route must also be mapped out carefully. The State has some restrictions on house moving and they prohibit moving a house for more than 5 miles on a State Highway. This problem is often solved by rotating between State and local roads.

When the Zion project is completed Mr. Palaske will still be a very busy man as two more such projects are already lined up. The Channel Lake State Park Expansion is one of them. The State will be purchasing 38 homes in that area and all of them will have to be moved.

Besides moving homes, Palaske also raises them. Many people have their homes raised in this area in order to put in a basement, when transferring a summer home into a year round home. Palaske's firm does not install the new foundations themselves, but rather they work with local contractors.

The house moving business has not been a dull one. When a large home was recently torn down on Grand Avenue, to make way for the new North Shore Gas Company Building, a log cabin was discovered in the midst of the house. The house had apparently been built around the log cabin. Palaske and his men were then called in and skillfully moved the log cabin out of the house and delivered it to Libertyville, where it can now be seen across from the Lake County Highway Department.

George is not afraid of size and has moved a five story apartment building, not to mention the Grass Lake Lumber Company. During a normal year he moves about 80-85 buildings at a speed of about 25 m.p.h.

The weather has not been on his side for the last year and a half and the rain has put a damper on the business, doing its share to slow things down. It is difficult to move a house in the rain and resulting mud. In some instances a whole track has had to be built for the house to be moved on.

Palaske works in Lake County, McHenry, and sometimes in Cook County and in Wisconsin. He has been offered the chance to move a large project in Florida, but turned down the opportunity. Being with his family was deemed more important and besides there is really more than enough work in this area.

George and his wife Alice have four children, Georgine (Gigi) Spittle, Douglas, Mary and David. Douglas, a student at Western University, helps his dad during the summer and on vacation so the possibilities of the line of Palaske House Movers being carried on are very good. Don't be surprised someday to read "The House That Doug Moved."

NOTICE

Next week's paper will feature a complete wrap up of the work that has been done on the Comprehensive Plans and the Survey that is being compiled concerning the population of the Village and the Township of Antioch.

George Palaske gets ready to go back to work moving houses. He is currently in the Zion area where some 200 houses are scheduled to be moved. (Staff Photo)

In 1971 George Palaske and his crew sailed this house down Main Street. Houses are moved containing all of their contents and are moved to new ground in approximately three days. When they hit the road they travel at about 25 m.p.h., and arrive in their new location in excellent condition. (Staff Photo)

Along the Way with Annie Mae

If you are still behind, I guess you forgot to set your clock ahead!!!

With all the flooded conditions you'd think we had enough water, but the weather man predicts rain through Wednesday!!

The Junior Class is getting ready for their big nite on Saturday, May 6, 1973. Sure hope the weather gets better for the prom, and following picnics.

The Freshman Class is keeping extra busy, and they're going to hold a bake sale this Saturday, May 5th in the lobby of the State Bank from 9 am til 3 pm. Help support them.

With approaching "Clean Up Week" here in the Village, be a "good samaritan" and bundle all your old newspapers and give Jim Gutowski a call at 395-1317. The 7th grade class from the Upper Grade Center will be scheduling a pick-up drive on May 12. But, please call.

Get well wishes go to Harold Gaston who underwent surgery this past week. I'm sure you will feel better soon with all of our wishes going to you.

Surprise Sunday guests in town were former Channel Lake residents, Pat and Mike Hruby and their 7 children. They made a trip to the Milwaukee Zoo, and got rained out, so thought they'd stop by and say "hi". They live in Merrill, Wis.

The newly elected Village Board is getting organized. New committees are being named, and the members along with our new mayor, will be sworn in at the May 7 Board Meeting at 8 pm. The meeting is open, so plan to attend.

Just 2 more weeks to get your tickets to the Cottillion. A VERY worthy cause.

Congrats to Dan Kasik and Willie Schmidt on their recent marriage. Much happiness to these two lovely people and "their" 7 children. For a honeymoon they are spending a week in the Virgin Islands.

The Scot seals for the Little League can be placed in specially marked boxes at the Jewel, A & P, and Payless Food Stores. Help your little leaguer acquire balls and bats. The offer is only good through May 28.

Happy belated birthday to Larry Zerr on April 28. May 1 is the special day for Andrea Lea Jahneke who will be 6 years old. The 1st is also a special day for Ila Lasco and Mona Waters. Kim White celebrates no. 1 on May 3 and hugs and kisses travel to Scotty Anderson on the 3rd too. May 5 is being celebrated by Rose Sunich and Paul Dugenske celebrates on May 7. May 8 is the special day for Jim Harvey (who never gets a year older) and Luanne Haisma. Can't forget Suzie Frash who has a special day on May 6. Guess that is all for this week.

Happy anniversary wishes on May 4 to Louise and Joe Gutowski.

All the girls at the desks in the lobby of the First National Bank got beautiful red tulips from their bosses in honor of Secretary week. Elaine Palm received a lovely pink azelia plant. Speaking of Secretary Week. Jill Hass and Jan Anderson were guests of Wally Daniel and Rick Koenig at the Rotary Secretary Day luncheon that was held at the Brave Bull last Thursday, April 26.

Welcome back to Antioch Mr and Mrs. Ed. Jacobs. Hear they are here for the summer.

Shirley and Marv Toepper are getting settled and looking forward to a busy summer in their new home in Cass Lake Minnesota. They report that the Indians up there are behaving - so far - - -

A big thanks to all who bought the spruce trees from the Upper Grade School children. The trees were purchased by the First National Bank for the children to sell and in turn purchase larger trees and shrubs for the Upper grade school environmental center.

The Baileys, Herbsts, Holberts, and VanderMeers are all back and looking well and TAN following an Easter trip to Florida.

The Antioch Grade School Band Concert was Sunday afternoon. Having rehearsed once a week since only January, the young people did a commendable job. Following the concert was the annual Band Banquet held at the Bristol Oaks Country Club.

The Monte Carlo Skidoo night held in honor of the opening golf season at the Antioch Country Club was a "roaring fabulous" evening!!!! Complete with lots of feathers, "bathtub hooch" and "vamping" waitresses - the Keystone cops kept everyone in town. Entertainment by the versatile Versalaires made the evening fly!!! A tribute to Al Jolson and Louis Armstrong was one of their specialties. Jeff Santino out-did himself as host for the event, and went all out to provide an authentic roaring 20's evening. Antioch is indeed fortunate to have such a club in its area. Jeff's parties are unmatched! - and golf pro Remo (sheik for the evening) Crovetti is always available for you sportsmen and women.

Try something this week - say "hi" to your neighbor and smile to a stranger.

REMEMBER WHEN

A phone call from Mrs. Fhymer identifies a recent Remember-When photo. It was the Thomas Wilton Building that housed the G.O. Fotz Clothing Store. An interesting sidelight was that Mrs. Foltz and 2 daughters were burned to death in the Iroquois Theatre fire. The Remember When photo was loaned to us by Mr. Robert Wilton, Sr. and was printed in the 4-18-73 issue.

REMEMBER WHEN? We don't, but we know that all it takes sometimes is a little reminder to jerk a memory and bring back recollections of those days gone by. Each week we print an old photo submitted by an Antioch resident. Some we will be able to identify. For others, we leave it to you to search your own mental scrapbook. Call us if you can identify a photo. Better yet, if you have a memorable photo to share, bring it in to the office.

GROVE SCHOOL TO HOLD GROUNDBREAKING

Mr. M. David Cain, Chairman of the Grove School Board of Directors, Waukegan, will be Master of Ceremonies at the Ground-breaking Ceremonies for the Grove School's Residential Center to be held at the school, 40 East Old Mill Road, Lake Forest on Sunday afternoon, May 6 at 3 p.m. Many dignitaries will be in attendance.

The ground-breaking is the culmination of a fund drive that began in the spring of 1971. Mrs. Charles C. Searles, Wilmette, Chairman of the Capital Fund Committee Drive for the Grove School Board of Directors announced at that time a matching grant to be given by the W. W. Grainger Foundation in the amount of $365,000, which had to be met within a year. Due to the untiring efforts of many people from many areas and gifts from hundreds of individuals, service clubs, businesses, and foundations this was accomplished within one year. Since that time the Kresge Foundation has given a grant of $25,000 toward the building fund. Mr. Frank Frable, formerly of Deerfield and now of Texas, a retired business man, assumed the role of Fund Secretary and gave a year of service to the school to help organize the campaign. Mr. Paul Kaiser, Sr., Waukegan, and Mrs. Howard B. Wright, Gurnee were instrumental in the Grove School's Parent Club raising their third of the matching grant.

Service organizations involved in the fund campaign were the following: Antioch Mental Health Association, Antioch; Knights of Columbus, Antioch and Waukegan; Aid To Brain Damaged Children, Skokie and Chicago; Kiwanis Club, Lake Forest Womens Club and Jr.

Womens Club of Lake Forest; Lions Club of Highland park; Men of the Radar School, Great Lakes, Illinois; Womens Auxiliary of Northfield Fire Department, Northfield Womens Club; and Gurnee Community Church, Gurnee.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY FIGHTS AGAINST POLLUTION

The Ford Motor Company is doing many things in the fight against pollution.

To begin with, as a result of work done in the 1950's, Ford Motor Company started making changes as far back as 1960 in cars sold in California to curb the hydro-carbon emissions from the crankcase. An improved version of the crankcase ventilation system was subsequently installed on all Ford Motor Company cars sold across the country. The improved crank case controls reduced total hydrocarbon emissions by 20 percent from the level of emissions from vehicles not equipped with such devices.

THE SELF PORTRAIT.....

Many artists in the past painted themselves at various times of their life. Rembrandt painted himself over fifty times and to see these portraits is to see him gradually aging, with all the joys and sorrows he felt reflected in these faces.

It is good practice to use yourself for portrait studies. You will pose as long as you want and you can come in close to study detail where it might embarrass a model to be so scrutinized. You do not have to converse with yourself to stay awake and you have only yourself to please. Some people cannot see themselves as artists see them. When you paint yourself you can make yourself saintly or devilish or whatever you wish.

There are several disadvantages to self portraiture. You work looking in a mirror and the image is reverse of what you are. Perhaps you can arrange two mirrors, the second reversing the image back to what is you. That usually is too complicated to set up, what with all the other equipment in an artist's studio. Also, it is hard to get a pleasing expression, for as you draw or paint, you have a concentrated, deep envolved expression which you usually still have on you face when you turn to view it in the mirror.

You try to grin and it looks stupid. Actually you are not sure just what is a good natural expression for yourself, as you do not see yourself in a mirror as others see you at your best. But if you think of something pleasant which gives you a good expression as you look at yourself, try to reflect more on it or something similar every-time you glance in the mirror.

Position the mirror and the lighting to give you the best slightly turned view. Do not do a straight front view as this does not give a good likeness readily.

Happy you.

Next Week: THE PASTEL PORTRAIT.

TO SPAIN AND BACK AGAIN

Five girls from Antioch High School had an eventful Spring vacation as they travelled to Spain for a week. Mary Palaske, Fran Colette, Mary Steffenburg, Peggy Griffin and Lynne Sterbenz, who are all Juniors, joined a group from Libertyville. Mrs. Sandra Spanier, a Spanish teacher at Libertyville High School, planned the trip. When not enough students signed up, students from Antioch were invited to join the group.

The girls were enthusiastic about the trip and returned with many stories and souvenirs. Food in Spain was not considered to be the highlight of the trip for the girls, and neither were the bathrooms that never heard of "Charmin".

The Spaniards are offended if you do not eat everything on your plate. This created some problems for the girls, especially when they were served omelets filled with peas and beans. They solved their dilemma by wrapping the food up in napkins and bringing it with them. When Peggy Griffin was served a big fish, which is far from her favorite food, she decided she couldn't eat it. The waiter decided he couldn't take it away either, so Peggy spent the night looking at her fish. All of the girls did agree that Spain has delicious oranges, however.

They also told an interesting story about a religious procession they attended. They soon found out the men aren't all that religious or spell bound by processions and neither are the policemen.

They discovered Spain does not have any speed limits on their roads and that "the people drive like maniacs."

The girls saw many points of interest such as Frano's Receiving Palace, the Sierra Nevada's, and the Lahambra, which is an old moorish castle. The girls said the Moors built the castle when they ruled Spain in the 1500's and that it was really beautiful, especially the many mosaics.

Toledo was the first city that the girls visited during their seven day tour. Toledo houses the third largest cathedral in the world.

From Toledo the girls took a seven hour bus tour to Granada through the Sierra Nevada Mountains. On the way they stopped and visited Don Quixote's house. From there the girls travelled to the Costa del Sol (the sunny side of the coast) where they spent four days and three nights. It is located on the Mediterranean and is mostly a resort area. This was their favorite place. The weather was warm, although the nights were cool.

The girls were kept busy and the time went quickly for them. On their way home on April 21st they made an early morning stop in London, England. Taking a quick tour of London at 7:00 a.m. they found it to be rainy and foggy. It was much colder in London than in Spain and one of the girls commented they nearly froze to death. Before leaving they were able to see Big Ben, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Westminster Abbey and the London bridge.

ENJOY LIFE ? YOU'LL LIKE CURRENT PM & L PLAY

It is difficult not to begin this review with some cliché about "Happiness is....," because the current PM & L offering, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," is filled with happiness. The script by Clark Gesner, based on a day in the life of Charlie Brown and the whole gang from the comic strip "Peanuts," is straightforward and brilliant humor. This is augmented by Gesner's music and lyrics, which are light and simple, extremely tuneful and, at times, very appropriately child-like.

PM & L uses only three musicians: Tracy Teltz on piano, David Rush, percussion, and Tanya Millsop, xylophone, celeste, and bells. Individually and collectively, they produce a very pleasing sound, which ties the play together and moves it along.

The play gets off to a rapid start with off-stage critical remarks about Charlie Brown, who sits alone on the darkened stage. Almost the entire first act is composed of a series of short "Blackouts" that should keep the audience laughing almost continuously. The second act contains several longer scenes, giving the actors time and space to bring their characters to life.

Overall, the quality of the performances is very fine indeed. Bill Sershon of Antioch, in the title role, makes real the little kid who just can't succeed at anything, whether it be managing a baseball team, receiving valentines, or - as done in skillful pantomime by Sershon - flying a kite. Throughout the play, he matches facial expression and movement to Charlie Brown's moods and delivers lines and songs in a clear, strong voice.

It was a pleasure on opening night to see Paula Scardino of Round Lake grow into her role as Lucy Van Pelt. Through the first act, she was good as "Paula playing Lucy." But early in the second act, during the "Baseball Game," suddenly she loosened up and became just Lucy - domineering, loud, determined, almost masculine at times. From then on through the curtain call, she was Lucy with a capital "L".

Lucy's little brother Linus is brought to life by Bill Beese of Antioch. He, too, has a clear, strong voice, which he uses to advantage in his several musical numbers, including a very agile and rhythmic song and dance with his blanket. Surprisingly, Linus does not come across as insecurely as one would expect of a blanket-toting little brother. But this is the way the script draws him, and the way Beese plays him.

John Cadwell of Ingleside does well as the reserved piano-playing Schroeder, who turns out to even be sensitive about hurting Lucy's feelings. Cadwell is well-cast in this role. He could improve his otherwise fine performance by concentrating on enunciation when singing, especially as the tempo of the song picks up.

Barbara Tyska of McHenry is charming as Peppermint Patti, though there are a few times when she sounds just a bit too coy for the very young girl she is playing. The technical quality of her performance is quite satisfactory, however.

There is an old story about the dog who went to see the flea circus and stole the show. Ed Grimes of Antioch is such a dog in his superb performance as Snoopy. He sings well - even lying flat on his back - he dances with spirit and grace, his expressions and movements match Snoopy's changing moods, his voice is clear and resonant, whether barking a loud rebuke to the Red Baron, or delivering a soft, humorous "aside" to the audience. One suspects that Grimes identifies with Snoopy, who he plays as a casual, sometimes day-dreaming, fun-loving dog: a characterization that gives meaning to the expression "a dog's life."

Director Don Beveroth keeps the technical aspects - lighting, set, props, blocking - simple and flexible, in order to concentrate on the more essential lines and characterizations. It is in these latter two areas that the PM & L players excel. Here is a show the whole family should come out to see. It is guaranteed enjoyment. Beveroth has added a note to the program, which is worth repeating here: "In its simplicity and playfulness, the world of Charlie Brown is the world of the child. In its uncertainty and frustration, its hopefulness and affection, it is our world too."

Seats are still available for the remaining performances, May 4, 5, 11 and 12. Curtain time is 8:30 on each of these evenings. General admission is $3.00 for adults, $1.50 for students. Phone 395-9702 for reservations.

DRAPERY CLEANING

CHANGES IN YOUR DRAPERY AFTER CLEANING

I'll never forget the day I picked up my $90 custom made sheers from a cleaner and received them in shreds. It took me 2 years to finally get up the courage to throw them out after burying them in a closet. Cleaners fault? No - not entirely. The previous 3 weeks, I've been explaining some of the chemical changes that can take place in some fabrics at some time. If you've been keeping track, you know most deterioration occurs before cleaning - not from cleaning, but that doesn't soften the blow. The answer? Well, first understand that sun and oxygen damage cannot always be determined before cleaning; some fabrics will shrink up to 27 percent during cleaning and screen print and pigment dyes cannot be guaranteed not to fade. However, a conscientious cleaner will carefully examine your drapery before cleaning and then contact you if there is any question. As with most things in life, a little care and common sense, go a long way.

TROOP 92-CHIVALRY IS NOT DEAD

Last fall, several members of Antioch's Boy Scout Troop 92 spent a weekend dismantling and storing the tents of the Lakeview Council's Girl Scout Camp at Hartford, Wisconsin.

This spring the boys volunteered to erect the tents for the summer's use. The boys picked a windy weekend after the last big snow. The platforms had to be cleared of snow first and then

"all hands" wrestled with the 12 x 14 canvas tents and overflies in the stiff wind. The boys didn't mind the work but regretted that no Girl Scouts were present to cheer them on.

CONTAMINATED WATER WELLS

The recent rain and resulting flood conditions may have contaminated private wells. Contamination usually occurs when flood waters reach the top of the well casing and pass down into the water stratum through defective well casing seals. Wells located in pits are especially susceptible because the top of the well casing may be submerged even though the ground surface is not flooded.

Wells that have been flooded, either in pits or on the surface, should be presumed to be polluted unless bacteriological testing shows otherwise. Polluted wells should be provided with new seals and be disinfected before water from them is used.

The following recommendations will be helpful in minimizing health hazards from polluted wells and other flood conditions:

1. Well pits must be eliminated. Installation of a pitless adapter unit effectively eliminates the pit and provides for the well seal to be above the ground surface. Recent changes in Illinois water well regulations require that all well pits be eliminated or the casing extended to a height above flood level.

2. Wells that have been polluted should have sanitary defects (such as replacement of defective seals) corrected and should be disinfected after the flood water has receded. Specific instructions for disinfecting wells can be obtained from the Lake County Health Department. It may be desirable to have a reputable well contractor do this as he will also be able to replace seals and correct other deficiencies.

3. Provision for drainage of the property should be made so that it will drain completely and rapidly after flood waters recede.

4. Water taken from flooded wells should be brought to a vigorous boil before being consumed. A supply of boiled water can be stored in the refrigerator if another source of safe water is not available.

5. Individuals examining or working on flooded wells -- especially if they are in pits -- should constantly be aware of the possibility of electrical shock that may result from exposed or shorted electrical connections. If the well or well pit is flooded, it is recommended that the electrical power to it be disconnected.

6. Foods stored in basements that have been contaminated by or exposed to flood water, unless in cans or other sealed containers, should be destroyed or denatured and used for animal feed. Canned foods may be used if the cans or bottles are washed thoroughly before being opened.

7. Clothing and bedding soaked by flood water should be thoroughly laundered or dry cleaned.

8. Furniture, floors, walls and fixtures or appliances should be thoroughly scrubbed with soap and safe water.

9. Basements that have been flooded should be scrubbed with a detergent solution and flushed with safe water after it drains or has been pumped out. The basement may be sanitized after scrubbing by flushing or mopping with a disinfecting solution. One cup of household bleach in a pail full of water should be adequate.

BITS AND PIECES

By: Taffy Engelhardt

This article is aimed at all students and their parents. Two million young people, and their families, this year will face a great question that will affect them for the rest of their life. COLLEGE. Where to go, whether to go, what to study, when to apply, how much it will cost, - these are just a few of the questions. All of this requires a lot of time, energy and emotions for many students and families all over America.

But still, many of the decisions made have been based on pure myth, whether you realize it or not. Such a subject is very misunderstood. There have been so many changes that a new way of thinking may be required about the entire situation.

I, and many other seniors, have had many obstacles when considering college and I never realized how wrong I was until I read a recent article in Better Homes and Gardens entitled "Ten Common Myths About College." I would like to share with you some of the important points from this article in hopes that it may guide you a bit in finalizing some of your plans. Especially those of you who will be planning next year - that is, next year's senior class.

COMMON MYTHS ABOUT COLLEGE:

1. It's hard to get into a college. In the fall of 1972, colleges opened with space available for 300,000 additional students. New York University alone had 5,000 fewer students enrolled than three years before. Eastern Oregon College even offered it's students a cash bounty if they could recruit other applicants for the half empty classrooms. And there will be even more space available in the future. The Carnegie Commission estimates that by 1980 there will be 280 more community colleges in operation - one within commuting distance of every college-age person in America.

One report states that any student who graduates in the upper 25 percent of his high school class will get into college somewhere - regardless of color, creed, sex, or size of his family income.

2. You must pass certain tests to get into college. Most people assume that before enrolling in college a student must pass a "College Board" or "SAT" test to determine whether he is "college material" and will be successful as an undergraduate. SAT and College Board scores used to be considered almost gospel by college admissions offices, but an increasing number have grown disenchanted with them.

No test has been found yet which can predict accurately how well a student will do in college. A Brown University study, among others, showed absolutely no correlation between test scores and college grades. The best indicators of a student's college success are his high school grades and his class standing. But even these cannot identify the late bloomer who suddenly "finds himself" in a college setting.

3. It's best to go to college right after high school. Remember the GI's after WW II? Colleges now look back on them as the most dedicated and motivated students who ever appeared on American campuses. After a long interruption in their schooling, they came home with definite educational goals - and firm ideas about how to attain them. Far from being handicapped by the delay, many veterans breezed thru the traditional four years of classes in three years or less.

Many colleges believe a large number of today's students would benefit if they too remained out of school a year, two years, or even longer to "Get their heads together" and decide what they want to do.

4. A good college has many well-known professors. Perhaps the oldest myth around is that one of the best ways to choose a college is to examine the credentials of the faculty. How many professors are Nobel Prize winners, or how many have published important books, or how many have served in key government posts?

As protesting students from Harvard to Berkeley have pointed out, faculty "stars" often never appear in the undergraduate classroom. Their domain is the laboratory, the study, and the consulting office. Actual teaching of undergraduates often is left to teaching associates and graduate students barely older than the undergraduates themselves. If the stars do any teaching at all, they often confine it to specialized classes at the graduate level.

5. Private colleges are better than public colleges. Many people believe that private institutions like the Ivy League and the Seven Sisters offer better education than that of public institutions and less famous schools.

Yet an American Council on Education rating of graduate school departments, ranked by scholars themselves, showed that many of the most highly regarded were in public universities, such as Wisconsin, Michigan, and California. No one has been able to prove that any given institution provides better education than any other institution.

6. Small colleges are best because they always have smaller classes. The informal atmosphere of a college can be valuable - but there is such a thing as too small. The Carnegie Commission concluded that a liberal arts college with fewer than 1,000 students could not offer the range of courses, the laboratory and library facilities, or the caliber of faculty for a first-rate education. Teacher morale is at its lowest ebb in such small, financially starving educational institutions. Great size, of course, has its drawbacks. Students are reduced to numbers, identity vanishes, classes are conducted in huge auditoriums instead of in small classrooms or under a tree. So many different courses are offered that sometimes students are bewildered when told to choose among them.

7. There are tremendous differences among colleges. The sad truth is that many colleges are very much alike. Although they now enroll more than eight million students from a range of backgrounds and wholly diverse needs, they differ largely in the degree to which they are trying to imitate Harvard. Regardless of size, location, or student body, they offer the same academic subjects taught almost exclusively by the lecture method.

The best way to choose a college today is (a) learn whether it offers the subject the student is interested in; (b) visit the campus in person; (c) talk to as many students and faculty as possible.

8. You need a college education to be successful. That depends upon your definition of success. For example, some students actually lose money by going to college. They pay up to $5,000 a year for four years, meanwhile forgoing the wages they might have earned during that period, and then settle for a job paying no more than they might have obtained without a diploma.

Business has shown less interest in hiring master's degree holders; they say the added education doesn't justify the added starting salary. Finally, the specialties which graduate students primarily pursue have been among those hardest hit economically.

Moreover, whether or not a diploma pays off in dollars, it is fast becoming essential in the world of work. A diploma is a credential which many employers use to separate one group of job seekers from another whether legitimately or not. And many employers have upgraded job requirements to call for a degree where none was needed in the past.

Perhaps most important of all, education stretches the mind, introduces the student to new thoughts and new interests, and prepares him to take a fuller role in society. And education - whether it's gained in college or on one's own - confers special intangible benefits in this era of increased leisure time.

4-HERS HEAR CAREER TALKS

Gail Olsen, Sandy Olsen and Linda Olsen hosted the Sequoit Suzies during their April monthly meeting. At this meeting the members partook in a Careers discussion after they heard a talk by Mrs. Van Patten on careers in Home Economics and many different areas the 4-Hers could pursue in Home Economics, she also enlightened the girls on careers in Banking and where they could gain some education in various colleges. Mrs. Gross continued the career session with her many suggestions of careers in Art, and where the girls could inquire and also attend to further their knowledge and desire to enter any of the many varied fields of Art. Each girl then was asked about her choice of career and all members joined to discuss each career. The remainder of the evening was left for singing and preparation for clubs participation in the Share the Fun Act. The 4-Hers will again meet in May at Becky and Riccard Janka's home to discuss and make plans for their achievement nite.

In the Bible in St. Matthew 9 we read how Jesus went to cities and villages, teaching, and healing every sickness and disease among the people.

In the lesson sermon "Everlasting Punishment" this Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, the first reader, Mrs. Barbara Conzelman reads from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, this commentary: "Nothing is more disheartening than to believe that there is a power opposite to God — Every law of matter or the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

Everyone is invited to attend the services at BEACON HILL, Route 173 and Harden, Antioch, Illinois at 11 a.m. Nursery service for children.

Happy Birthday to Tina Freitag who shared her birthday cake with her third grade class on Monday, April 30, and to her 4 year old sister Darlene who celebrated on Tuesday, May 1st.

This reporter and family were delightfully surprised with a visit from former residents Mike and Pat Hruby and children. Along with their own daughters, Susan, Dawn, and Micki, they have four foster children, Susie, Sandy, Jessica and David. The family came down from their home in Merrill, Wisconsin to visit the Milwaukee Zoo. Finding themselves rained out they decided to spend the day visiting as many old friends as possible and it was truly great to see them.

We were very glad to hear that Mike and Mary Jo Zeien, Kathy and Dick Rogers and Harriet Runyard and children were only slightly injured in an automobile accident on the Wilmot-Johnsberg Rd. on Easter Sunday while viewing the rising Fox River and other flooding in McHenry County.

Don't forget the paper drive on Saturday, May 12th. The 7th grade science classes of the Upper Grade School will be holding another drive to raise funds for their spring field trips. For paper pick-up please call 395-1317.

A special hello to Ted and Carol Portalski and sons David and Mark in Tacoma, Washington. Ted is my brother and receives this paper every week. "Hi gang."

Let me know the news.

"Hindsight's Better Than Foresight"

by: Rev. Eugene Keusal

In the Antioch area we have at least ten Christian Churches. All these churches have large congregations. All ten of these congregations pray - together and individually, in church and at home. What does prayer do? What is prayer for? Is the prayer of the church to "balance off" the evil from the "dens of iniquity"?

Does prayer change things? What does it change? Is it a contest, the churches against the "dens of iniquity"? Sometimes the membership of both organizations is comprised of the same people. And that could be good or bad. The churches might be horrified having "bad people" as members. The "dens of iniquity" might be shocked having church people as members. Or they might both be happy and pleased.

However, what does prayer do? Does prayer change God's mind? I'm going on a picnic and I pray for sunny weather: Does God hold back the rain clouds? What if one of the farmers is praying for rain at the same time I'm praying for sunshine? Which prayer does God listen to and how does He decide?

You don't think that God changes. Then what, does change? Do you change? Does God change your mind? Then you're right back where you started.

PETS MUST BE LEASHED ON STATE PROPERTY

Pets and other domestic animals must be kept on leashes while on Department of Conservation properties, according to Anthony T. Dean, director of the Department.

"There are two exceptions to this state regulation," Director Dean pointed out. "Untethered dogs will be allowed in game management areas when hunting and while field trials are being conducted, and horses are allowed in bridle trail areas."

Violation of the leashing regulation can result in a fine of $25 to $100. In addition, the animals will be impounded and must be redeemed at the owner's expense.

SEQUOITS WIN TWO AND LOSE TWO

Antioch vs Warren, April 23, 1973 Batteries: Warren, Gorsline and McCann; Antioch Popp and Vasquez

	R	ER	H	W	SO
Gorsline	3	3	7	3	9
Popp	5	3	6	6	9

On April 23, Warren beat Antioch at Antioch, 5 to 3. The Warren jinx has been on Antioch for two years; seems we just can't beat them.

Antioch took the lead 2-0 in the first inning. Frank Pleviak walked and took second on a wild pitch. Tim Mieure doubled him home and took third on an error by the second baseman. The catcher Steve Vazquez doubled him home. Warren tied the score in the third on a double and a sacrifice bunt for one run; three consecutive walks and a single scored the other run. Antioch regained the lead the same inning on consecutive singles by Frank Pleviak and Tim Mieure, and sacrifice fly ball by Steve Vazquez to score Pleviak. Warren took over the lead for good in the next inning on a walk and a double for one run and a single for the other one. Antioch had the bases loaded in the seventh with two outs, but a strike-out ended the game.

Antioch vs Grayslake, April 24, 1973 Batteries: Skora and Stelton; Gutowski 6 1/3. Amundsen 2/3 and Vazquez.

	R	ER	H	W	SO
Skora	7	4	4	4	3
Gutowski	4	2	5	2	2

On April 24, Antioch beat Grayslake at Antioch 7-4. Mike Gutowski made his debut for the Sequoits and pitched well until the seventh when Glen Amundsen was called in to put out the mild threat.

Antioch got her run in the second inning when Steve Vazquez got on base on a fielder's choice, went to second on an error by the pitcher, and scored on an error by the second baseman. In the fourth Mark Maras got on base on an error and advance to third on a single by Steve Vazquez. Tom Warner walked to load the bases, Judd Smith singled Maras and Vazquez home, and Mike Gutowski hit a sacrifice fly to score Warner. In the fifth Frank Pleviak walked, stole second, and scored on an error by the shortstop. In the sixth, Steve Vazquez got an infield hit and scored on Fred Popp's triple. Popp scored on an overthrow by the third baseman. The runs collected by Antioch in the fifth and sixth innings were enough to stop Grayslake's three run seventh.

Jim Fischer

Antioch vs Salem, April 25, 1973 Batteries: Underhill 3, Reyer 4 and Lindstrom, Antioch Maras and Proctor

	R	ER	H	W	SO
Underhill	0	0	1	1	4
Reyer	1	1	2	1	3
Maras	0	0	2	1	6

Antioch beat Salem, in their first non-conference game, 1-0 at Antioch. All three pitchers held teams to only five hits. Even though Antioch had five errors, Mark Maras was always able to pitch his way out of the inning.

The Sequoits got the only run of the game in the seventh to win the game. Fred Popp led off the inning with a pinch hit double. One out later, he stole third and scored on a sacrifice fly ball to right.

The only two hits Maras gave up were a double in the third and a single in the sixth. He, Tom Pocrnich, and Fred Popp got a single in the third, a single in the fifth and the double respectively.

Jim Fischer

Wauconda vs. Antioch, April 27, 1973 Batteries: Roberts and Greenhill. Amundsen and Vazquez

	R	ER	H	W	SO
Roberts	1	1	10	2	9
Amundsen	3	3	10	1	8

On April 27, Antioch lost to Wauconda 3-1. Both teams got ten hits however, Antioch's were not at the right time.

Wauconda's two runs in the second inning were the only ones they needed. Two singles and a sacrifice bunt put men on second and third, a single scored both of them.

Antioch got their only run in the fourth on a single by Tim Mieure and Rick Sedar. One out later, Mark Maras singled to left, scoring Mieure. Antioch kept the threat going by loading up the bases, but a ground ball ended the inning.

Antioch got a few more hits after the fourth, but had no major run-scoring threats.

One of the reasons Antioch did not beat Wauconda, as shown here, is that several players who might have scored were run down attempting to steal extra bases. (Staff Photo)

Inflation hasn't changed the price of ashes.

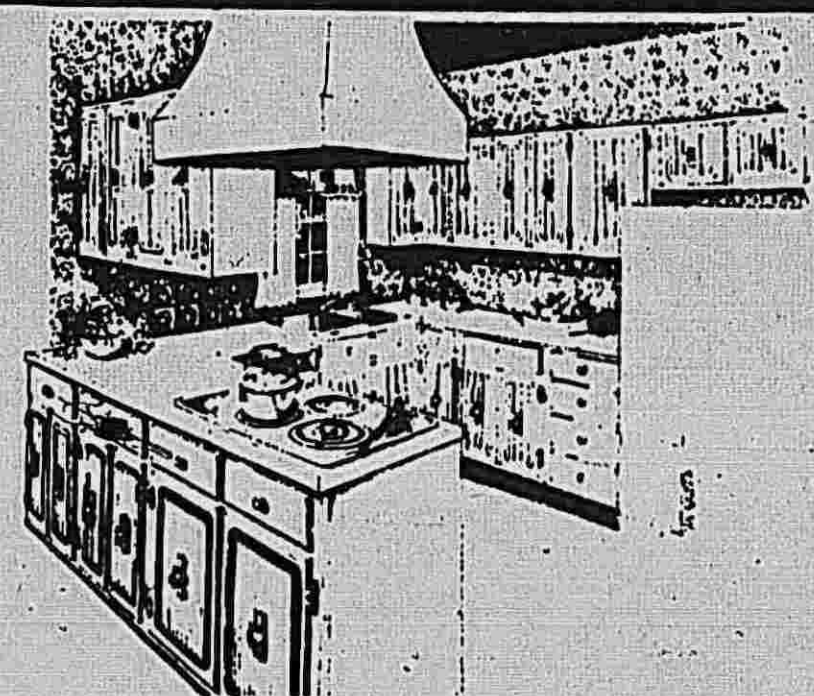

But it has changed the price of your home. For example, if you bought a $20,000 home in 1968—today it's worth about $27,000. Don't be left with a costly pile of ashes. See me about a State Farm Homeowners Policy that will cover your home for all it's worth... and keep it that way with automatic inflation coverage.

WAUKEGAN SPEEDWAY

Chuck Clark of Wauconda scored an impressive feature win at the Waukegan Speedway Saturday night behind the wheel of a 1964 Chevelle sportsman. Abel Avila, also from Wauconda, gained second place and Joe Torri of Lake Villa took third money.

Racing next weekend at Waukegan switches to two nights with the late model 'sportsman' class racing Saturday and the late model 'super stock' class taking over Sunday. Hobby stocks race both nights and a powder puff (ladies) derby will be the added attraction next Sunday night.

Clark, who finished second in the opening races two weeks ago, made a thrilling outside pass on leader Chuck Bostick of Waukegan during the 15th through 17th laps of the feature to take the lead and the win. Bostick blew a clutch four laps later and finished 9th.

Avila, in his first start of the year, took second with just six laps to go and could not catch Clark. Torri was third in front of Dennis Heiskala of Waukegan and Joe Francisco of Island Lake.

The race took its toll of machinery with the night's two fastest qualifiers failing to complete the feature. Defending champion and the previous feature winner, George Dukas of Zion, became the first driver to time in the magic '15-second' bracket being clocked at 15.92 for fast time.

Dukas and Dave Horst of Gurnee collided while fighting for the fast heat race lead with both cars suffering severe damage. Dukas could only complete two laps in the main.

J. P. Gatti Jr. of Wheeling also had problems, the worst coming in the 14th lap of the main as he, Clark, Bostick and Avila dived for the feature lead. A wild tangle occurred on the backstretch with Gatti hitting the concrete wall hard and damaging his car.

The night was full of spills with the backstretch wall taking a real pounding. The 25-lap feature required three restarts as did the first heat race.

Joe Horn of Lake Bluff carried the checkered flag in the dash for the six-fastest cars after an exciting duel with Gatti. Heat race wins went to Avila, Bostick and Torri.

Dennis Kuzelka of Zion and Norm Bucher of Wheeling each won a hobby event with Jim Gerken of Glenview running second both times.

Time trials at Waukegan will start at 7:15 both nights next weekend with the first race at 8:00. The track is located ¼ mile east of Route 41 on Washington Street near Waukegan.

STRAUBE AND OTTO WIN AGAIN AT LAKE GENEVA

Roger Otto, Burlington and Jerry Straube, Waterford, were feature race winners in the stock car races at the Lake Geneva Raceway Saturday night. For Otto it was his third straight feature win even though he finished only third in a heat race and had his undefeated win streak broken. For Straube, who won the first race of the season, it was his second win in feature racing but he added an earlier heat race win tonight.

Otto's win came after taking the lead from Denny McKay, Carpentersville, on the 16th lap of the 25 lap distance. Earlier leaders had been, Tom Anderson, Antioch; Jim Cameron, Kenosha and then McKay. The feature race was stopped early and then restarted after Tilton Elliott, Rockford crashed into the fourth turn concrete wall. It appeared as if something in his car failed and he drove straight into the wall at a fast speed. He was taken to Lakeland Hospital in Elkhorn and held overnight pending examination and X-rays the next day. It was his first night of racing in a car he had purchased through the winter from Butch Bergsma, Richmond.

Super-modified heats were won by Anderson; Whitey Harris, Lake Villa; and Dick Dustin, Greenfield.

Sportsman stock event winners were John Baumeister, Burlington, who had set fast time in that group; Gil Shilts, Delevan, driving a 1969 Dodge Charger; Larry Taomino Jr., Wonder Lake; Dave Ingersoll, Whitewater; and Straube.

The first warm weather brought out a new high in competing cars as 71 took part in the 13 event program plus qualifying before more than 1600 fans.

All four classes of cars return again on Saturday night and a further increase in the number of cars is expected.

Several hundred boys tried out for the Antioch Little League under sunny skies last Saturday. The boys practiced batting and fielding skills. (Staff Photo)

WILMOT SET MAY 19 OPENING DATE

The delayed opening date for the Interstates Racing Association of super-modified and Sportsman stock car racing at the New Kenosha County Speedway in Wilmot, Wisconsin has been set for Saturday night May 19.

Originally, May 5 had been announced as the opening date but record rain fall, flooding and even a heavy late spring snow, made it impossible to make any program toward completing the site in the four weeks prior to the announced delay.

Work started again on April 26 and a completion date on May 19 now appears certain. The new track, a 1/3 mile, is actually ready and cars were on the track at a recent car inspection and practice period held on Sunday, April 29.

Added to the IRA 51 date schedule is a Championship race at the Grundy County Speedway in Morris, Illinois on Wednesday afternoon July 4. The Capital Speedway in Oregon, Wisconsin has been scheduled for a Wednesday night July 18 and a date at the Kenosha County Fair in Wilmot on Friday, August 10. This will be a special "Teen Night at the Fair Race", with all teenagers admitted free.
